

DC CONTROLS, INC.

DC Controls, Inc. is the new wave of excellence in the Automatic Door Industry. As a small company, we intend to grow for customers' needs while maintaining the level of quality that most companies have left behind. Here at DC Controls we believe that customer relations are the foundation for a lasting business endeavor.

Not only do we have operators and controls, but we also have all the replacement parts, cable assemblies, activation switches, and many modules to satisfy the customer's every need.

These accessory modules are custom designed to cover all areas of automatic swing door operations. They are designed for easy installation and hook up on existing door operators. They are compatible with most of the operators on the market today. We are continually designing new modules as well as modifying old ones in order to keep total door control in the customer's hands.

Excellent design, and quality manufacturing are what separates DC Controls, Inc from the rest of the competition.

Note: Price lists, product lists, and brochures are also available.
